Why Do My Clients Need Travel Medical Coverage with a Hospital of Choice Evacuation Plan?

Even if your client has a medical evacuation plan that can bring them to their home hospital of choice, there are still emergency services provided at the hospital where one would first be admitted to for an emergency. Not all visits to a hospital warrant a medical evacuation or continued care, so there would still be the possibility of significant medical expenses your client endures. If a medical evacuation is warranted, a patient must also be stable enough for a possible transport. If a medical evacuation is not warranted, hospitalization, physician services, x-rays and other medical expenses that are often not covered by health insurance when traveling, can be overwhelming. Even if your client's health insurance provides some level of emergency medical coverage while traveling, large deductibles and limited coverage can leave your clients with significant out-of-pocket expenses. Adding Travel Medical Coverage to protect your clients can further ensure true peace of mind for a nominal cost.

Why This Plan Can Differentiate You From Your Competitors?

Many Travel Medical plans have medical coverage with a very limited medical evacuation benefit, offering only "nearest suitable" or "nearest adequate" facility. Combining 'Hospital of Choice' Medical Evacuation with Emergency Accident and Sickness coverage provides your clients a premium plan that will further set you apart from the competition. Standalone evacuation assistance/membership plans that are not true insurance, cannot offer this coverage as an option within their plans.

Claims Processing

Plan holders with an injury or illness that does not lead to a serious or critical condition, hospitalization or medical evacuation, where minimal medical services are provided and expenses are typically limited out of pocket, will file a claim for reimbursement through a form provided online. If the plan holder has a serious illness or accident and is admitted to the hospital, they or their family member can call our 24/7 Emergency Services per the terms of their plan to seek further assistance and arrangements with the hospital to guarantee payment of services. Details on the claims process and contact information are included in the plan holder's Confirmation of Coverage documents and on Travel MedEvac's website Claims Page.
